

PROPERTY PROTECTION FOR JOINT OWNERS WHO HAVE TAKEN EQUITY RELEASE WHERE ONE PARTY HAS A DISQUALIFYING MEDICAL DIAGNOSIS AND HAS LOST MENTAL CAPACITY

If you have taken equity release (ER) on your property and are sure you do not need to release any more funds then you should be considering the following:

Under the terms of your ER agreement if one party dies and the survivor needs to go into care or, if both parties require admittance into residential care, the property must be sold and the ER provider paid back the debt that is owed to them at that stage. In most cases, the debt will be considerably less than the property value, which would then mean that once the property was sold and the debt fully repaid, the resulting equity would be paid directly to the account(s) of the person(s) in care. This payment would, as a result, then increase the amount that was subsequently able to be taken into consideration by the Local Authority for the payment of care fees.

It is therefore wise, to affect the strategy outlined below:

We conduct a forced severance of the Tenancy of your property on the Land Registry to change you from Joint Tenants to Tenants in Common which can be legally requested by the non-diagnosed party.

For the non-diagnosed party, we will provide a Property Probate Preservation Trust and a new Will containing a Nil Rate Band Trust (and if leaving your property to your children) a Residential Nil Rate Band Trust also.

The Trusts within this strategy will ensure that your assets will not add to the beneficiaries of the non-diagnosed party for inheritance tax calculations and will not interfere with any benefits that a beneficiary may be receiving due to the way the funds are appointed out of the Trusts and your estate and, this also protects against any beneficiaries losing half or all of their inheritance if they were to be married and subsequently divorce or die after inheriting because the Trusts within this strategy ensure that all assets within them have to pass down the bloodline only and not go to spouses (unless you specify otherwise).

So long as the non-diagnosed party has complied with the rules concerning deliberate deprivation of assets, the property will be 100% protected if the diagnosed party dies first and the survivor eventually goes into care, because their property Trust will have been legally and correctly put in place well in advance of their need for care, and changes the ownership of their share of the property from absolute to that of a Trustee, meaning that a Local Authority will be unable to take any part of the property into consideration when assessing their financial position (because if the diagnosed party dies first and leaves their half of the property to the non-diagnosed party, the diagnosed party, or their appointed attorneys via a registered Lasting Power of Attorney for Property and Finance, will have been able at that point to put the diagnosed party's half of the property into the Trust we are setting up here) preventing the racking up of huge care fee bills that would otherwise have to be paid from the final estate or through the sale of your home.[†]

If both parties need to go into care before either has died, the share of the property belonging to the non-diagnosed party will be 100% protected with their new Property Trust, meaning only the share of the diagnosed party could be taken into consideration for care fees.

If the non-diagnosed party dies first, their half of the property is 100% secure in their Trust, so if the diagnosed party is already in care at that point or subsequently goes into care, then only the share of the non-diagnosed party can be taken into consideration when assessing care fees.

In addition, when used in conjunction with Powers of Attorney, the chosen Attorneys for Property and Finance for the non-diagnosed party would also (should they wish to) be able to rent out the property, if they are the survivor and go into care, and, use the resulting rental income, to "top up" any financial award the survivor may be eligible for, ensuring the survivor would be able to receive a far better level of care than they would otherwise be able to get from that which the basic award would provide.

The Property Trust has no ceiling on the value of the property allowed to be within it, enabling uncapped future growth in the value of your home without the risk of any potential future tax implications.

As advised above, we will also provide the non-diagnosed party with a new Will within which will be a Nil Rate Band Trust (and if they are currently leaving their property to children), a Residential Nil Rate Band Trust, to receive their estate after their death, up to the Nil Rate Band (currently £325,000 per person) or Residential Nil Rate Band (currently £500,000 per person). Putting the residuary estate up to the Nil Rate Band and/or Residential Nil Rate Band into these Trusts is a far better gifting vehicle than purely giving the funds absolutely to the beneficiaries which could then be lost if any of the following were to affect them - divorce, bankruptcy, death passing the funds out of the bloodline, care fees or ultimate inheritance tax on the gift itself in due course by the beneficiary's own descendants/beneficiaries of their Will. This method of gifting from the estate therefore ensures that beneficiaries are fully protected against all the above scenarios.

An extra copy of the non-diagnosed party's Will is also included within this package to ensure that whatever happens to their own copy there is another signed and witnessed original legal copy of their Will that will be able to be used when the time comes.

An Interest in Possession Trust for the non-diagnosed party is also added within their Will and is exactly the same as the Trusts above but for funds received from their residuary estate in excess of the Nil Rate Band or Residential Nil Rate Band allowance.

All standard legal, Land Registry and conveyancing fees including the provision and completion of all standard associated official government registration documentation together with all relevant solicitors' fees are provided for you FREE OF CHARGE when taking out this package.
