

PROTECTIVE PROPERTY PROBATE PRESERVATION TRUST FOR SOLE OWNERS WITH ESTATES UNDER £325K

1 x Property Probate Preservation Trust, which, so long as you have complied with the rules concerning deliberate deprivation of assets, means your property will be 100% protected if you eventually go into care or have care brought into your home because it is legally and correctly put in place and changes your ownership from absolute to that of a Trustee meaning any Local Authority will be unable to take your property into consideration when assessing your financial position preventing the racking up of huge care fee bills that would otherwise have to be paid from the final estate or through the sale of your home.[†]

This Trust will also protect your property for your chosen beneficiaries if you are currently cohabiting, married or in a civil partnership now or should be in the future, as a partner can be named as a Life Tenant at any time should you wish and this strategy will protect them at the same time as your beneficiaries because you will be able to give your partner a right to live within the property after your death for a period of time that you specify without them actually owning it meaning if, after your death, they went into care or married/remarried/ entered into a civil partnership themselves or went bankrupt the property would not belong to them and as such would be secure for your chosen beneficiaries, protected as it would be going forwards against any claim by a Local Authority for your partner's care fees, a divorce settlement, claim under a Will or by the official receiver. In turn, your partner would also be afforded security and protection as they could not be forced out of your home by any beneficiaries either as they would have a legal right to reside in the property for as long as you had stipulated within your Trust wishes.

In addition, if used in conjunction with Powers of Attorney, your chosen Attorneys for Property and Finance will also be able to rent out your property if you go into care (in the absence of a partner living within it) and use the resulting rental income to "top up" any financial award you may be eligible for so you will be able to receive a far better level of care than you will otherwise be able to get from that which the basic award will provide.

The Property Trust has no ceiling on the value of the property allowed to be within it enabling uncapped future growth in the value of your home without the risk of any potential future tax implications.

We will provide a new Will and include within it a Nil Rate Band Trust to receive your whole estate after your death up to the Nil Rate Band currently £325,000 which will protect your beneficiaries and if you are leaving your estate to a spouse or children, we will also add a Residential Nil Rate Band Trust, increasing the allowance to £500,000. Putting your residuary estate up to the Nil Rate or Residential Nil Rate Band into these Trusts is a far better gifting vehicle than purely giving the funds absolutely to your beneficiaries which could then be squandered, have a negative impact on any benefits they may be receiving, be lost through divorce, bankruptcy or death passing the funds out of the bloodline, be lost to their care fees in the future and prevents ultimate inheritance tax on the gift itself in due course having to be paid by the beneficiary's own descendants/beneficiaries of their Will. This method of gifting from the estate ensures that your beneficiaries are fully protected against all the above scenarios.

We will also provide an extra copy of your new Will to ensure that whatever happens to your own copy there is another signed and witnessed original legal copy that will be able to be used when the time comes.
